

In the Classroom

1. Working in pairs, make a short list of things that can happen accidentally in a programming class to demotivate learners.
2. Present one of your ideas to the whole class.

Disparate Starting Points

“One third are bored and one third are lost”

Pre-assessment can demotivate those who most need help

False beginners